

Collaboration

The creative work of Kostas Kartelias has inspired collaborations across several artistic disciplines, extending his poetry beyond the printed page into music, theatre, and live performance. These partnerships demonstrate how literature becomes a shared artistic experience through composers, performers, directors, and musicians.

Among the principal collaborators are composers Mikis Theodorakis, Michalis Gregoriou, and Nikos Kypourgos; performers Maria Farantouri and Doros Demosthenous; theatre director Anna Sotriini; concert musicians Irina Valentinova, David Lynch, and Mariliza Papadouri; and poet Ioulita Iliopoulou, whose literary contribution helped frame public presentations of Kartelias's work.

Together, these collaborations illustrate the breadth of Kartelias's cultural influence. By bringing together poetry, music, theatre, and performance, they have introduced his work to wider audiences and demonstrated its enduring ability to inspire leading figures in contemporary Greek artistic life.
